

Artemis Outstanding Woman Conservationist Award – 2027

The purpose of this award is to recognize an outstanding WSF woman leader and mountain hunter who has made significant contributions to WSF, the wild sheep and other mountain game resource. According to Greek Mythology, Artemis was the great Olympian Goddess of hunting, wilderness, and wild animals and was often depicted carrying a bow and arrow. She was a protector of all wildlife and wildlands.

The deadline for 2027 nominations is October 15, 2026.

YOUR NAME:

NOMINEE'S NAME:

1. Please provide specific examples how your nominee has contributed or volunteered to WSF and/or one of our chapters or affiliates.

2. Has your nominee participated in on-the-ground conservation project? Some examples include water guzzler installations, trap/test/collaring projects, habitat enhancement, etc.? If so, please provide details.

Yes

No

Note your details here:

3. Is your nominee active in the promotion of ethical hunting and, in particular, sheep and mountain game hunting? If so, please provide detailed examples to support your statement.

4. Please describe how your nominee is a role model for other women in the outdoors.

5. Please provide any additional information that you feel would help the committee in their review. This might include how long you've known the nominee, have you hunted together, have you participated in conservation projects with them, etc.